

CONGRESS' HAND IN RAIL STRIKE IS NOT IMMINENT

Harding Said to Have Temporarily Aban- doned Such Plan.

BULLETIN.

Washington, Aug. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Harding was said by administration advisers today to have abandoned, temporarily at least, his plan for asking legislation of congress to deal with the railroad strike situation.

BULLETIN.

Washington, Aug. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—An early answer by the seven striking shopmen's unions to President Harding's latest and "final" strike settlement proposal was seen in an announcement from the White House that the railroad union leaders had made an engagement to call at 2:30 this afternoon, on the President.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Nation-wide paralysis of railroad transportation threatened today as "Big Four" Brotherhood men in various parts of the country called meetings to consider joining the trainmen's walkout, which started when crews tied up the California and Arizona deserts and freight traffic on the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern outer belt line of the Chicago Steel and shipping districts.

The walkout of trainmen spread to other sections during the last 24 hours. Switchmen joined engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen in protests against working where troops, deputy United States Marshals and other guards were on strike duty at former trouble centers. Clerks on the Santa Fe coast lines were authorized to walk off their jobs if they considered conditions unsatisfactory.

The threatened tieup of the nation's railways by a general walkout of trainmen came as railroad heads who met in New York prepared their reply to President Harding's proposals for ending the shopmen's strike, which began July 1. A committee representing the executive heads of 148 railroads who conditionally accepted the President's proposals, planned to present their reply to the White House today.

Passengers Suffer.

Leaders of the striking shopmen and chieftains of the other railway unions continued their conferences in Washington and were expected to make known the outcome of their meeting today.

Southern Pacific firemen joined the walkout, tying up limited passenger trains at Ogden, Utah.

Although several Santa Fe passenger trains held up by the strike at California points were backed into Los Angeles, other trans-continental trains were stranded in the desert. Passengers marooned at Seligman, Arizona appealed to Santa Fe officials to relieve them from their plight, declaring that women and children were suffering. The plea was passed on to Brotherhood officials at Needles, California. They were urged by the company to consider the situation from a "humanitarian" standpoint.

Stranded on Desert.

Passengers on the stranded trains sweltered in the heat of the desert, but many accepted their fate philosophically and some wore blue bands on their sleeves signifying their sympathy for the strikers.

Embargoes on fruit, livestock and other perishable freight were announced by the Southern Pacific and the Western Pacific. Early today the trainmen's strike had spread to the Louisville & Nashville at Evansville, Indiana, and Madisonville, Kentucky; the Denver & Rio Grande; the Washburn & Moher, Missouri; the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line at Pocatello, Idaho, and Salt Lake City; and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas.

M. K. & T. trainmen and switchmen called a meeting at Waco, Texas, for tomorrow to consider a strike on the road.

Lee Orders Men Work.

With strike threats from Brotherhood trainmen increasing, the only voluntary check which had been placed on the walkouts early today had come from W. G. Lee, chief of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who directed his men to remain at work until a strike was authorized.

Conflict with the rail strike in Illinois was followed by a lull, but Bloomington, Illinois, where troops are still on guard, returned to the trouble map when C. J. Krauss, a foreman in the Chicago & Alton shops, was seized by masked men, taken to the outskirts of the city, beaten to unconsciousness and left by the roadside.

Reports of a heavy explosion near the Mississippi Central railroad shops at Hattiesburg, Mississippi, came from Jackson. An east bound Alabama & Vicksburg passenger train was halted at Jackson and passengers transferred to Illinois Central trains. Reports of a clash between guards and switchmen at Meridian, Miss., were said to have been responsible for the transfer.

TO USE NATURAL GAS FOR FUEL IN MAY OIL FIELDS

Shortage of Coal is Responsible for Experiment.

With the arrival of a shipment of piping and other supplies, some of the big oil derricks in the Maytown oil fields are again operating. This is for a very short time, however, according to reports, as the shortage of coal has made it almost impossible to keep fires under the boilers. Coal cannot be purchased at this time to fire the steam drills and a new and clever scheme has been arranged.

Work is now under way in the laying of a pipe line from one of the big gas wells on the Minnick farm to the drilling machinery. Natural gas will be used for heating the boilers. Should this experiment prove successful all of the steam operated drills will dispense with soft coal and use the natural gas for making steam.

The principal well on the Minnick farm which is being watched very closely, is down a depth of more than 1,500 feet, it is reported. At this depth, a watchman closely guards the drill day and night.

(BY OFFICIAL REPORTER.)
Last evening the Dixon Symphony Orchestra, which many thought to be better than usual, when each number was especially pleasing. Miss Ruth Dimmick favored the audience with a beautiful clarinet solo, which received prolonged applause, to which she graciously responded with an encore number.

Montraville Wood was the feature of the evening. He is a handsome man, very bright, quick in thought and movement, witty, full of stories and jokes, which he puts in to make his scientific explanations more clear, and to show the possibilities of scientific research as applied to real life in the present and future. Mr. Wood has held many important positions in this country, and had an important part in the World War. He spends much time in his own laboratory near Chicago, and some with others, including Edison.

He began immediately with a quick, interesting statement of principles. Wireless is a magnetic wave, not an ether wave. No one knows how the magnetic wave goes through the wall of a house. The movement is not like the waves in water when a pebble is thrown, that is too slow. Imagine a room so full of people that it would be impossible to get one more in, and that a man in the center had eaten a large quantity of dried apples, and some one gave him a glass of water. Then the apples would swell, and the man would push against those next him, and the waves, but by this time the audience had seen the point, and the explanation was lost in the laughter. "Just so the molecules shove against neighbor electrons," continued Mr. Wood. Ions merely agitate those around them, they do not jump from here to France. We can tap the ground or the air, and hear music, but the wire in our box must correspond to that from which the music is coming. Then he told a story of a preacher who put a platform in his church, to enable a few of his congregation who could not come, to hear the sermon and music. In about two weeks the congregation began to dwindle—for others had put in instruments in their homes.

Radio—Ignited Coal.

During the war, Germans sent on fire the coal in ships at sea by hidden coils of wire which were started from wireless stations on land. Magnetism was discovered in 1604. "I didn't discover it," added the speaker. "Thunder is the closing up of the hole in the cloud where the lightning went through. If you hear

MT. CARROLL GIRL ATTACKED; RECALLS RECENT POLO AFFAIR

Two Men Encounter Girl Alone in Home; Dope Her and Depart.

Mt. Carroll, Ill., Aug. 11.—Sheriff Wise and deputies returned to Mt. Carroll today after making a futile search of the country about Lanark for a mysterious pair described at a "tall man and a short man" who yesterday entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gearhart, three miles southeast of Lanark, breaking off the screen door hook to gain entrance, and left the Gearhart's 18-year-old daughter, Mabel, unconscious on the floor, after they administered two hypodermic injections, one into her left arm and the other into her breast.

The parents of the girl left for Freeport about 10 o'clock in the morning. Shortly afterward a tall man and a short man, neither of whom Miss Gearhart had ever before seen, appeared at the house, and without rapping, broke open the screen door and entered.

Warned Girl to Silence.

In the kitchen they confronted Miss Gearhart. The tall one said he had seen the girl's father and mother go away shortly before and admonished the girl not to attempt to cry out or give an alarm.

Miss Gearhart stepped backward until she reached a corner of the room in which stood an old shot gun. She grabbed the weapon, which was not loaded, but almost as quickly one tramp wrested it from her grasp, threw her to the floor and taking a hypodermic outfit from his pocket, gave her a shot in the left arm and in the breast. The girl lost consciousness and did not revive for about two hours.

When she recovered consciousness the men had disappeared. She summoned neighbors and the latter called in a physician. The latter administered restoratives to the hysterical girl and then made an examination, as a result of which he announced that she had a severe nervous shock the girl was no worse off for her experience.

No valuables about the house were taken and the cause of the mysterious assault is a mystery. It was said that the girl has been receiving weirdly composed, anonymous notes during the week, this may have some connection with the mysterious assault of yesterday.

The case closely resembles that of Miss Lillie Paul, of Polo, who was attacked by a strange man in the home of Edward Love, at Polo, where she was employed, while the Loves were at Freeport.

Mystery of Ghost in Ohio is Solved

(By Associated Press Leased Wire)
Painesville, O., Aug. 12.—A "ghost" which farmers living near Paines Hollow say has been haunting them for seven years, is "at rest" today. It disappeared several days ago with the burial of the body of Henry Lipenstick, which was found in an abandoned well on a farm.

Lipenstick, a farm hand, disappeared seven years ago. Since then the farm is said to have had poor crops. A farm house burned down and the "ghost" was blamed for that. Owner after owner has come and gone.

Carl Logies purchased the farm about a year ago. When ever he went to his barn at night, Logies said today, he would see a "white wraithlike figure" walking about. At times, he declared, he followed it with his gun in hand and it always disappeared in the direction of the well. Determined to find out what caused the apparition, Logies cleaned out the old well, which had been filled with stones. He came on the body of Lipenstick. Sheriff Spink was called and he and his deputies suspected murder. The next day the sheriff ordered the body buried and now the "ghost" is gone.

Frank Lerman, who owned the farm at the time Lipenstick disappeared is in the Lake County Jail. He was bound over to the grand jury on charges of murder.

Edison Goes Easy On Harding's Plug

(By Associated Press Leased Wire)
West Orange, N. J., Aug. 12.—Carefully biting off a small piece of tobacco from a thick black plug, Thomas A. Edison, expressed to those near him that he was conserving the plug because it was a gift from President Harding during the camping trip made by the President, Henry Ford, Harry Firestone and himself in the Cumberland mountains last year.

John Woolley Said to Be Worse Today

LINCOLN-DOUGLAS DEBATE SHAPED FOR ISSUES TODAY

By NEA Service

Freeport, Ill.—Some 60,000 visitors are expected to come luxuriously autoing and train-traveling into Freeport August 27.

The occasion is the celebration of the fact that, 64 years ago, some 20,000 visitors came riding here in carts, wagons, carriages and many afoot, expecting to see the popular orator, Stephen A. Douglas, the "Little Giant," ignominiously crush in debate a long, ugly backwoodsman by the name of Abraham Lincoln.

This debate, held August 27, 1858, eventually put Lincoln in the White House and changed the destiny of a nation.

The celebration this year will last all day, with parades, fireworks, community singing and other similar features. But is expected to have a deeper significance, also. For the committee in charge has arranged for speeches by a Democrat, Byron Patton Harrison of Mississippi, and by a Republican, Karl C. Schuyler of Denver, Colo., former speaker of the Colorado House of Representatives, on the subject, "Application of the principles of the Lincoln-Douglas debate to problems today."

Slogans which will be used in the political battle for control of Congress next fall will be sounded by the orators. It is predicted.

Rich Manufacturer Sued for Divorce

(By Associated Press Leased Wire)
Chicago, Aug. 12.—Suit for divorce has been filed by Mrs. Frances Mark of Evanston, against Clarence Mark, son of the head of the Mark Manufacturing Company. It was learned today. Their marriage in 1905 was a brilliant social event of Elgin, Ill., where Mrs. Mark was one of the leading society belles.

Mrs. Mark asked $10,000 a year for support of their four children, Anna, 13; Alice, 11; Clarence, 8, and William, 3. They have been separated since July 23, 1921. Mrs. Mark said her husband is now living in New York. His income, she said, is $25,000 a year. In 1917, Mrs. Mark's petition alleged, Mr. Mark began a course of unkind treatment that made her life unbearable.

Douglas' reply that it could, because "slavery cannot exist unless supported by local police regulation," won Douglas the senatorship—and cost him the presidency two years later.

Split Democrats.

The question proved a wedge which split the Democratic party in two, and put Lincoln into the White House in the resultant bitter three-cornered fight.

The site of the debate is marked by a huge boulder, dedicated by Theodore Roosevelt in 1903. On it is a plate with the following inscription:

Within this block was held the second joint debate in the senatorial contest between

ABRAHAM LINCOLN and STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS

August 27, 1858

"I am not for the dissolution of the Union under any circumstance,"—Douglas.

NO CHANGE IN SITUATION IN JOLIET RY. YARDS

Adjutant Gen. Black Paid Midnight Vis- it at Camp.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 12.—The arrival of Adjutant General Charles E. Black coupled with a midnight visit of Brotherhood representatives to the camp and a consultation of union and rail chiefs of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Road today served as the only new development in the local situation where 1,300 yard men are awaiting the removal of state troops before returning to their work, or for a compromise agreement.

Before entering the meeting with the road officials this morning a union representative said the situation appeared rather "dubious," but he "was hopeful" that the controversy would be cleared today or tomorrow and that the men would be working again Monday.

P. F. McManus, general superintendent of the road said he had no statement to make regarding the conference.

Troops last night, enjoyed their first boxing show since they pitched camp. The arrangements were made by Chaplain Jack O'Donnell.

A permanent kitchen has been established in the camp which leads local observers to believe that the troops will hardly be removed.

Whether Adjutant General Black's presence will aid in solving the local situation remains problematical. In the past Lieutenant Colonel Morris, camp commander has been consulted on but few occasions and he has not been invited to any of the conferences.

Adjutant General Black will leave here today for Camp Logan to attend a shoot. A team of five men from the troops on duty here will also go to that place.

ARTHUR GRIFFITH OF SINN FEIN FAME DIED UNEXPECTEDLY TODAY

Influenza Caused Death of Irish Free State Instigator.

Belfast, Aug. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann, died in Dublin today from influenza, it has been learned in Belfast.

Mr. Griffith was ill only ten days and his illness was not considered serious. Yesterday, however, he suffered a sudden relapse and died early today.

The death of Arthur Griffith marks the passing of one of the foremost figures in modern Ireland. He was one of the most conspicuous leaders in the creation of the new Irish Free State. He was one of the founders of the Sinn Fein movement in Ireland and from the beginning has been among the foremost leaders directing its activities. He was formerly an editor of Dublin and later established the newspaper United Irishmen, followed by the Sinn Fein and then the Nationality.

He first attracted attention by his uncompromising attitude for abstention by Irish members from attendance at the sessions of the British parliament at Westminster. This idea gradually formed the nucleus of the Sinn Fein organization, which took the place of the Irish nationalist movement.

Seven Months in Prison.

Griffith was arrested in Dublin in November, 1920, and spent seven months in Mount Joy prison. An attempt was made to rescue him from Mount Joy prison, but the armored car used for that purpose failed to carry out its mission.

Griffith accompanied De Valera to London in July, 1921, when the extended series of conferences was opened. Later, when the conference shifted to different point, Griffith was appointed chairman of the Sinn Fein mission. He was in London through October, November and December, carrying on the negotiations which culminated on Dec. 5 with the signing of the treaty between Great Britain and Ireland, and which has since been approved by the British parliament and the Dail Eireann.

Harding Intervenes in Tariff Conflict

BOOTLEGGERS AT AMBOY FAIR TO ENCOUNTER LAW

Federal and County Officers Will Watch Hooch Peddlers.

(Special to The Telegraph)

Amboy, Ill., Aug. 12.—To curb the illicit sale of liquor in Amboy during the annual Lee County Fair next week, three government operatives direct from Prohibition Director Gregory's office and five deputies of Sheriff Schoenholz will be on the grounds day and night and any bootlegger who is nabbed pushing his business will be summarily dealt with. This action was determined upon when a raid of five sheriffs at Oregon this week uncovered a bootlegging concession.

101 Horses Entered

The entry list for the races next week is the largest in the history of the fair, 101 horses having been entered for the various speed events. Among the well known trainers who will have stables at the fair and the number of horses in their strings are: Joe Gannong, 9; Pearce, 8; Cain, 7; Honey, 7; and Erwin, 10.

The Midway is well filled up already, although the fair will not open until Tuesday, and it is sure the concession rights will all be occupied before the opening. Additional seats to accommodate 3000 patrons are being erected in anticipation of the biggest year the association has ever had.

Amboy.—Everything is in readiness for the Thirtieth Lee County Fair to be held next week. There is no question but that this year's fair, given favorable weather, will excel by far all previous ones.

Generous premiums are offered in all classes of exhibits and entries already indicate the best exhibition of poultry, farm implements, domestic art, home products and wood work in the history of the association.

New barns have been erected to care for the large stock and poultry exhibits. Tents will be provided to care for the overflow of exhibits as the building program of the association cannot keep pace with the increasing exhibits.

City water has been installed on the grounds and will be a great convenience to stock exhibitors as well as visitors to the grounds.

The automobile exhibit this year will be under the management of the Lee County Automobile Association. Over forty different makes of automobiles will be exhibited under one mammoth tent.

The Lee County Farm Bureau will have their exhibit in the usual place at the west end of Midway near the poultry buildings. The exhibit this year will consist of charts showing the result of fertilization as is being practiced on a number of Lee County farms and mounted samples of noxious weeds, common to the county, and methods of destruction. In an adjoining tent a two-reel moving picture of the Bureau Decennial Pageant at DeKalb will be shown free to members at a small charge to others.

The local office will be in the exhibition tent during the fair.

The racing program promises some real sport and thrills to the lovers of good harness races. The fair management assures us that there will be at least 100 head of race horses on the grounds. The track, one of the best and fastest in northern Illinois, is in fine condition and with large purses as an incentive, some real contests should be the result.

The free attractions this year are guaranteed to be superior to any previous year. They will be given as usual, in front of the amphitheatre. A new feature promised to fair visitors is a radio concert in the amphitheatre each night. Donald Vaughan and Roy Combar, who were among the first to install radio outfits in this vicinity, will be in charge. Good band music will be furnished on the grounds every day and night.

The night fair will be held as usual. All exhibits will be open for inspection and the free vaudeville acts will be given. In addition to the vaudeville acts an exhibition of fireworks by the Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Co. will be given two nights. The program is as follows:

Wednesday night, "The Eruption of Mt. Vesuvius."

Thursday night, "The Scrambling of the Navy."

A large dance platform and good music will be provided on the grounds for those who wish to dance.

Tuesday is children's day and every school child will be admitted free. Races of various sorts for the children will be the program for the afternoon. There will be one horse race on this day, the mixed trot or pace, best two in three, purse $100.

LAST OF HIGHLY FOUGHT TARIFF PLANS SETTLED

Senate May Take Final Vote on Bill Within Fortnight.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Aug. 12.—With compromise "flexible" and "scientific" tariff plans approved last night, the senate got back today to consideration of committee amendments to the sundries schedule under a program more sharply curtailing debate. The last of the highly controverted subjects was out of the way, leaders on both sides began negotiations for an agreement for a date for a final vote. Although the rows over the "flexible" and "scientific" plans kept the senate in session until nearly midnight, it recessed under an agreement to meet today at 10 a. m. Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, plot of the tariff measure, explained that the extra hour was given opportunity for Senator Calder, republican, New York to deliver a prepared address on the tariff before the 15 minute limitation of debate rule became effective at 11 a. m.

President Given Powers

After modification in many particulars, the "flexible" tariff provision authorizing the President to increase or decrease rates within a radius of fifty per cent, was approved, 36 to 20 with three republicans—Gooding, Mc Nary and Stanford—opposing and two democrats—Broussard and Kendrick—supporting. Under an amendment by Senator Bursum, republican of New Mexico, approved, 34 to 19, the provision would become inoperative July 1, 1924.

The President could not change any rates until after investigation and public hearings by the tariff commission, which, however, was not directed to recommend rates, as was suggested by President Harding. In his letter the executive indicated that he would call on the commission for such recommendations.

Scientific Provisions

The "scientific" tariff proposal, approved by the senate, 37-13, was a committee substitute for the original Frelinghuysen proposal and would provide that the President or congress have the assistance of the commission in tariff making. Proposals in the Frelinghuysen amendment were incorporated in the committee plan, the commission being authorized to ascertain:

Conversion costs and costs of production in the principal growing, producing or manufacturing centers in the United States and abroad; Import costs of representative articles competing in American markets with American products; Selling prices in this country and abroad.

All other facts which would show the differences in, or which affect competition between articles of the United States and imported articles in the principal markets of the United States.

Senator Frelinghuysen urged that the commission be required to recommend rates to congress beginning Dec. 1, 1923, and every six months thereafter, but his amendment was rejected, 34-18.

Gland Hospital is Barred from Town

By Associated Press Leased Wire

West Dennis, Mass., Aug. 12.—By a vote of 79 to 7 this town decided last night to ban gland hospitals within its borders. The petition of Dr. J. Leon Hanson that his "gland farm" be allowed to continue in operation, was denied.

Attention was attracted to this hospital, a few days ago when a patient in whose body glands of a bull had been grafted, died. Residents of the town protested vigorously against the institution, which, it was said, had been established without the consent of the town authorities.

Dr. Hanson, at the meeting presented arguments tending to show the need existing for such a hospital, but his remarks were greeted with jeers and laughter. The physician agreed to remove his institution to a more hospitable environment.

BATTING CONTEST IN AMERICAN LEAGUE IS HOTTEST IN HISTORY

Only Few Points Separate Sisler and Ty Cobb in Figures.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—The race for batting honors in the American League has developed into one of the hottest fights in years with only a fraction of a point separating Ty Cobb and George Sisler, for the premier honors. The St. Louis favorite has been out of the game for about a week, and the Detroit leader kept up his consistent hitting until he was at the top of the list. Sisler returned to the game and since that time has been giving the Georgia Peach a hard fight. Sisler gained the lead, then he struck a snag which the "Tigers" pilot took advantage of, and today, with averages including games of last Wednesday the two stars are a virtual tie with 409 each. However, in order to decide just who is out-front, the decimal when carried out beyond the usual three figures shows the Detroit manager with a percentage of .40956 and Sisler's .40920.

Ken Williams, the home run slugger of the majors, who has cracked out his 30th homer, has joined the select ten by boosting his mark from 313 to 329. Tiller Walker of the Athletics is the runner up to Williams for Circuit drive honors, with 25, and "Babe Ruth," the king of swat, is trailing the pair with 21. Williams in addition to leading in four ply hitting continues out in front for total base honors, while Sisler, his teammate, run his stolen base record to 37. Other leading batters for 85 or more games:

Speaker, Cleveland, 376.
Tobin, St. Louis, 344.
Heilmann, Detroit, 343.
Bassler, Detroit, 342.

O'Neill, Cleveland, 339.
Williams, St. Louis, 329.
Blue, Detroit, 325.

In National League.

Reb Russell, the former Chicago White Sox pitcher, who essayed the role of outfielder with the Minneapolis club of the American Association when he realized that his efforts on the mound were failing, is now giving the National League a surprise by his heavy hitting. Russell was obtained by the Pirates from the Minneapolis club. He was one of the best hitters in the league and was somewhat of a home run clouter. Since joining the Pirates he has socked out three homers in fourteen games. His batting average is .423, being the result of 22 hits in 52 times at bat. In addition to his three homers, Reb made six doubles and a triple.

Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis batting star, however continued to top the list of hitters in the Heydler circuit, who have played in 55 or more games. He is crowning the pill for an average of .383, and is out in front in total bases with 289, and in home runs with 28. Grimes of Chicago is the runner-up to Hornsby in batting with a mark of .361 and Bigbee of Pittsburgh with .360 in third.

Max Carey of the Pirates continues to show the way to the base stealers with 33 thefts, and also is out in front as a run getter, having registered 94 times.

Other leading batters: J. Johnson, Brooklyn, 350.

the thunder, the lightning won't hurt you.

"I have only one secret tonight, and I will tell you about that. Anyone who wishes may take notes and do these things themselves." Then he placed a foot switch on the floor, to have his hands free, took a bundle of soft wire, a stove-pipe wire, a foot of No. 2 copper wire would around a core "If you can't find a hole the right size, make one." With this he made an alternating current like that used in an electric chair, and explained the difference between alternating and direct currents. He lit three ordinary electric lamps without touching the connection. With another instrument, he raised the voltage from the usual 110 to 20,000, more than that of the electric chair.

The noise from a current having 10,000 alternations per second, raised the audience from their seats, although he had warned them. Then he showed how to handle this current without the noise, and held a headlight like that on an auto above the coil, lighting it without touching. With such an apparatus it is possible to have the wires down cellar out of sight, and come up through the table legs. Then one could have a reading lamp, or fry eggs if the skill is held down—if not it would fry to turn over ten thousand times a second and make scrambled eggs. Within five years we ought to be able to light our homes for one dollar a year.

IF YOU ARE WELL BREED—

You try to keep all appointments on time and have a right to expect that courtesy from others.

Etiquette would never require that you wait an hour for a friend to meet you. But having waited, good form demands that you be gracious to the delinquent and that you do not spoil the delayed engagement by an exhibition of bad humor.

BRIDAL SUPERSTITIONS—IMPORTANT IF TRUE—

The first flower seen by a bride on her wedding day must be white if she is to be happy. If her wedding wreath is uncovered by a veil she repents at leisure, and if she forgets her bouquet and returns for it in haste, she is sure to have a bad marriage. The girl who catches the bride's bouquet will be married within a year, while one who "tries on" either veil, or wreath, will die an old maid.

No bride will ever make her own wedding cake, if she desires to avoid misfortune, but if she cuts the first slice, good fortune is assured. If a raveling is found on the bridegroom's suit, another girl loves him, while if a tie becomes awry, it is a sign that he loves another girl.

HOT CORN AND PEPPER SALAD—A DELICIOUS DISH—

Take a pint of sweet corn (fresh) and just cut from the cob. Shred or mince one green pepper and cook in a little butter until well softened, add the green corn and more butter, stirring and mixing well over the fire. Season with salt, pepper and cayenne and serve piping hot. It is wise to double this recipe if the family is at all fond of corn for there is never a kernel left.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE—

In most countries laws will free a man from an unfaithful wife.

In certain part of Korea, the procedure is different. Customs justify a man taking matters into his own hands. He may bury his wife alive with just her head emerging from the earth. Here she serves as a horrible example to all his sex.

FORD RUNS 57 MILES ON GALLON OF GASOLINE

A new automatic Vaporizer and Decarbonizer, which in actual test has increased the power and mileage of Fords from 25 to 50 per cent and at the same time removed every particle of carbon from the cylinders is the proud achievement of John A. Stransky, 659 South Main Street, Pukwana, South Dakota. A remarkable feature of this simple and inexpensive device is that its action is governed entirely by the motor. It is slipped between the carburetor and intake manifold and can be installed by anyone in five minutes without drilling or tapping. With it attached, Ford cars have made from 40 to 57 miles on one gallon of gasoline. Mr. Stransky wants to place a few of these devices on cars in this territory and has a very liberal offer to make to anyone who is able to handle the business which is sure to be created wherever this marvelous little device is demonstrated. If you want to try one entirely at his risk send him your name and address today.—Adv.

YOUTH

Paris celebrates the 100th anniversary of the deciphering of the Rosetta Stone by Jean Champollion. This famous stone was discovered in Egypt in 1799 by a French officer. A message was carved on it in three different languages.

Champollion, by deciphering the Rosetta Stone, gave science the key to the mysterious hieroglyphic writings of the ancient Egyptians. As a result, we have pieced together their history.

Young men who are timid about tackling big jobs should think of Champollion. He was only 11 when he began studying the puzzle. He was only 19 when he solved the mystery.
Wise old men had failed.

JAIL

Young James Marchesani, arrested for throwing stones at a house in West Hoboken, N. J., must serve an hour a day in jail for 90 days. This stallment plan system of prison sentences might be applied in numerous cases. Agony is more effective when prolonged in small doses over a long time than when administered in one short dose. It might do wonders with auto speeders.

A western judge some years ago
tured a boy of stone throwing by sentencing him to throw 100 stones.
Maybe some auto speeders could be cured by making them drive 1000 miles with their cars propped up on acks.

MAGIC

A sailor becomes ill aboard a British ship far out at sea. No doctor is aboard. The captain goes to the wireless room and sends out a description of the sailor's symptoms.

A French ship picks up the message. No one aboard can read English. So the message is relayed to an English ship where a doctor prescribes. His medical directions are relayed back the same way to the sick man.

If this had happened 200 years ago all parties concerned would have been beheaded or burned alive as agents of the Evil One.

RELICS

The Nathaniel Hawthorne homestead at Raymond, Maine, is sold and turned into a community house.

In this and similar incidents you see young America getting its first gray hairs—beginning to accumulate historical relics.

Europe is all cluttered up with these. The final stage is ruins. We speculate a lot about the future. But few of us realize we are living in the best time of our nation's history—its youth.

GAIN

American export trade is 59 per cent larger than before the war. So reports the Department of Commerce.

Money is used as the measure,
however. Actual tonnage of shipments has not changed much.

When most of think we are watching the course of foreign trade, we really are watching the course of prices.

COAL

Coal is the most inefficient of the great industries. Seasonal buying—not enough miners part of the time, too many miners the rest of the time.

Twice as many mines as are needed, with a 4000-years' supply underground and easily available, yet shortage follows shortage. Profits rarely are normal, either a feast or a famine. Out of each 2000 pounds of coal mined, only 76 pounds are actually converted into heat energy, the rest is waste.

The oil industry was much the same way until John D. came along.
Coal also needs an organizing genius.
He will come.

QUEER

For 20 years no visitors were allowed in the Mellon home in Melbourne. Firemen broke in. They found the place a dog temple. Nine mummified dogs, expensively draped, lay in state in the candle-lighted palor. In an upstairs room a queen dog presided over eight living dogs, blinded by lack of light. It all sounds like some weird religious rite.

No one would think it queer, however, if the Mellons had kept mounted fish, deer heads or animal pelts instead of dog mummies. The strangest things in the universe are inside the human skull. The brain is so complicated that no one understands it, not even the owner.

DEBT

Good news for taxpayers: The national debt was reduced $6,000,000 in July. Not much, but it all helps.

The debt on July 31, reports the treasury, totaled $22,957,373,191. The
Russian banker a headache. But it is only about $212 for each American. We would be lucky people if personal debts were no larger.

POCKET BOOK

It looks as if prosperity is here to stay. Steel makers have worried a lot about the coal and rail strikes.
But production of pigiron in July was the largest in 18 months.

It was nearly three times as big as in July, 1921, since when it has been climbing steadily.

America now is making 78 tons of pig iron for each 63 tons before the war.

So goes iron, so goes general prosperity. The time to dust off the bank deposit book is close at hand.

CANCELLATION

Some Wall Street bankers, notoriously generous (with other people's money), second the motion about Uncle Sam canceling the loans he made to Europe. Step behind the scenes:

In addition to these government loans, Europe owes private Americans somewhere between three and six billion dollars. Part of this sum, known as "the unfunded credit balance," represents the sale of exported goods that haven't been paid for.
Obviously, the transactions have been financed through banks.

If Wall Street is so keen about canceling debts, it could practice what it preaches by digging into the pockets and canceling the unfunded trade balance. That's a horse of a different color, Rollo.

CHAIN

The fire began to burn the stick, stick began to beat the dog, etc.
That's how a chain cancellation of European debts would work out.
England would forgive France, who'd forgive England—and be left holding the hot potato, no one to forgive us.

Such a cancellation, England reasons, would induce France to pare down her demands for German inden-nity. In the last analysis, the effect would be to make America pay part of the German indemnity.

LIQUOR

The prohibition law in Ontario, Canada, allows horse doctors two quarts of liquor a day, to be used at their discretion. While believing in kindness to dumb animals, it requires an elastic imagination to conceive of an ailing horse needing whisky, brandy or gin.

Maybe it's a precaution, to insure a square deal for the horse. A horse is harder to doctor than a man, for he can't describe his symptoms. Man, blessed with the power of speech, has no difficulty suggesting a connection between a prescription and what ails him.

GIANT

A two-cent stamp now carries your letter to any of 50,000 American postoffices or half a hundred foreign countries.

How much would it cost you if a private corporation were handling the mails?

HONK!

Akron Chamber of Commerce finds 1,432,551 more autos registered in the United States than a year ago.

How do you reconcile this big gain with the "hard times" of the last 12 months? Admittedly, times have been none too prosperous. A few suffered panics of 1873 and 1893, our generation doesn't know what real depression is. Luxuries have become such

BRINGING UP FATHER

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

WHEN JACK ENTERED THE ROOM HE SAW A SMALL TABLE SET WITH GOOD THINGS TO EAT, AND ALL STEAMING HOT. THERE WAS ALSO A BONE FOR FATHER'S SHIP.

JACK HAD NOT EATEN A GOOD MEAL FOR SOME TIME, SO HE SAT DOWN AT ONCE AND HELPED HIMSELF. FLIP WAS VERY GLAD TO GET A BONE AND HAD A GOOD TIME ROLLING OVER THE FLOOR WITH IT.

AFTER THE TWO TRAVELERS HAD FINISHED THEIR MEAL, JACK TOOK A PAIL AND WENT OUT TO GET SOME WATER. HE INTENDED TO WASH THE DISHES.

TALK

Man, commonly accused of a tendency to talk too much, is losing the art of speech in big American cities.
So says Prof. Edward Sapir, Canadian anthropologist, after a visit to
New York.

He found New Yorkers inclined to be economical of conversation. They surrendered to the difficulty of talking in the uproar of business.

People lapse into silence when they have to compete with loud noise.
Maybe what Congress needs is to have a boiler factory built next door.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?—Matthew 13:16.

All are but trash

Which the writer can think.

Is your wife back from your vacation yet?

A serious shortage of reformed reformers is reported.

The man who talks too much never does it well.

Very few girls are as bad as they are painted; but lots are as white as they are powdered.

The man with the least credit takes the least care of it.

Now they claim Sherman didn't say "War is hell"; but that doesn't change what war is.

the later they are at a party.

Wealth is a burden in Russia. It takes a ton of rubles to buy a stick of candy.

Home-made people seldom grow wild.

Funny things happen. One day last week a millionaire's son was out of trouble.

Going south is fine; but a cashier who did it was caught.

It is only natural for the man against everything to find everything is against him.

The latest boy wonder is "How long before school?"

According to the flapper, it is better to have bobbed hair than to be lonely.

Easy-going men often find it hard to keep going.

It is hard to love thy neighbor
when he loves thy lawn mower.

The man who says what he thinks never talks much.

HUMIDITY

By Berton Braley

My gosh, I get weary of rain.
It seems to seep into my brain;
A little wet weather I don't mind a bit,
But when it continues it gives me a fit;
And whether in country or town,
Jupiter Pluvius gives me a pain;
I growl and I scowl and I frown—
My gosh, I get weary of rain.

I know it is "good for the crops."
But I like it best when it stops.
And if it pours steadily, day after day,
I warn you distinctly, keep out of my way!

I rant and I rave and I roar,
I hit little bubbles in twain,
I swear at the skies as they pour—
My gosh, I get weary of rain.

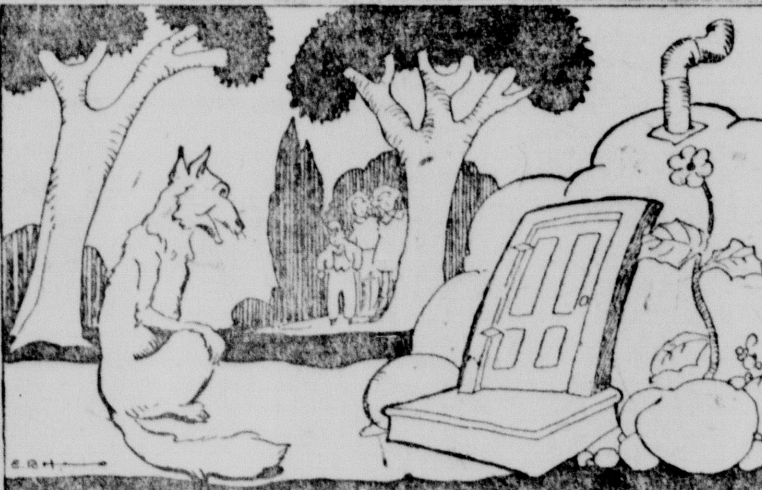

It's no fun to walk or to drive,
I feel just one quarter alive;
You cannot play tennis or golf in the wet

And—inside the house, oh, how grouchy I get!
Come, Jupiter Pluvius, have a heart;
From sending down showers refrain,
Avaunt, get, skedaddle, depart!
My gosh, I get weary of rain.

HOW FLEET FOX WAS FOOLED.

Sure enough there sat Fleet, never taking his eyes off Cutie's front door.

One day Dr. Snuffles' telephone rang. Nancy answered it. It was Cutie Cottontail talking.

"Say," said Cutie. "I'm in a fix. Ma's gone out and I'm alone. A while ago I peeked out and there was Fleet Fox watching for me."

"I can't go out and ma can't come in, for I heard Fleet call up to Mr. Crow he'd get one or both of us if he had to camp on our door-step till next winter."

"All right, Cutie," said kind Nancy. "I'll tell Dr. Snuffles and Nick and we'll help you. Don't worry. Just keep still and don't poke your little pink nose out until we tell you."

Nancy and Nick and Dr. Snuffles talked it over and finally Dr. Snuffles said:

"I've got a plan. Fleet is the most curious person I ever knew, as well as the greediest. So we'll fool him. Nick, go out and gather some sleepy-berries."

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well.

PLENTY OF EXERCISE

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

Remember how weak you felt after you had been laid up with that broken leg or sprained ankle? You weren't able to get any exercise; your muscles became soft and flabby.

Moderate exercise is absolutely necessary, to keep you in good condition, to throw off body poisons, to give vigor and an appetite.

It is not necessary to go in for cross-country running, or football or any other strenuous sport. Morning exercise immediately after arising will keep you toned up and ready for a full day's work.

When the alarm clock rings, hop out of bed, stand in front of the open window and stretch the muscles thoroughly. A few simple exercises may be gone through. Anyone can stretch his arms and legs in various positions without detailed instructions. A few deep breaths and you are ready for whatever the day demands. If you are within walking distance of your work, by all means, walk. Walking is the commonest and the cheapest form of exercise and within the reach of everyone.

The chief good of walking comes from the fact that it must be done in the open air. Because of this fact it might well be considered the id- exercise.

When you are walking, however, do it so as to be of distinct benefit. Walk with a full stride and swing the arms.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is—IMPECUNIOUS. It's pronounced—im-pe-ku-ni-us with accent on the third syllable. It means—habitually without money. It comes from—the Latin prefix "im," meaning "not," and the Latin word "pecunia," meaning "money."

It's used like this—"One sound, practical argument is advanced in favor of cancellation of Europe's indebtedness to the United States, and that is that this nation has very little chance of collecting what is due her no matter how hard she may try, from such impecunious countries."

Grounds for divorce are usually bat- tle grounds.

Probably one of the largest crowds that have ever gathered in Franklin to hear a band concert was here Saturday night. It is hard to estimate the number of people but there were over 450 on the streets. The band concert was more than had been anticipated, and we feel sure all went to their homes justly pleased with the entertainment and will be here again this Saturday night. The band under the direction of Joseph Glavin of Dixon is furnishing some good music and will continue to do so every Saturday night until cold weather. Mr. Fredericks was a clerk in the Peterman Bros. dry goods store here and still has many friends here who will regret to learn of his illness and who wish him a speedy return to health.

Rev. Hutchinson, Andy Naylor, Wayne Bates and Leslie Stultz are putting in some good hard work at he camp grounds and work that will be lasting and greatly appreciated by the public also. A new iron fence with ornamental cement posts is being made. The grounds are being cleaned. There is a fine prospect for this institute to far exceed the one of last year. Monday there were several young people up from Morrison to the Morrison cottage ready for a party of twenty. That is only a sample of the way the young people are coming from different churches throughout the district. There will be no charge whatever to any of the meetings at the camp grounds but silver offerings will be taken at various times.

R. C. Smith and family are going to Oregon today to attend the fair.

The remains of Dr. W. O. Story, who died in LaSalle Monday, were brought to this place Tuesday afternoon and taken to the home of his wife's sister, Mrs. C. W. Trostle. The funeral was held from the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon. Rev. George, pastor of the LaSalle Methodist church having charge of the services, assisted by Rev. O. D. Buck of the brethren church of this place. Dr. Story was a practicing physician here for about twelve years when he moved with his family to LaSalle where they made their home about twelve years. He leaves to mourn his death his wife and daughter Janice, an aged mother and several other relatives.

A quartet composed of Mesdames Clyde Speak and Harold Kelley, F. J. Blocher and Charles Arnold sang several selections. F. D. Kelley, J. H. Lincoln, E. L. Lott, Arthur Watson, L. A. Remember the band concert Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wingert and daughters entertained last Friday for Miss Mae Wolf who expects soon to leave to be a missionary to India. About twenty were present. The time was spent in social visiting and games. Probably the most enjoyable part was when Miss Mae opened about forty-five handkerchiefs on which were sentiments, which had been presented to her by her friends. In days to come these handkerchiefs as well as the sentiments will mean much to Mae in far away India. About four o'clock all went to the grove where they enjoyed a picnic with their good things also.

A marriage of interest to our readers is that of Miss Florence Thornton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thornton, who was united in marriage to Harold Clark at Scranton, Pa. The happy couple will reside at that place for some time. Mrs. Clark is well known in and around here and her many friends are extending to her and her husband congratulations.

No Chop Suey Can Be Found in China

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 11.—There is no chop suey in China, according to Walter C. Whiffen, Associated Press bureau chief at Peking, an American whose official business has taken him to many nooks and corners of that country during the last few years and who has prosecuted an unofficial and fruitless search for the dish in what was supposed to be its native land.

What's more, and worse, from the standpoint of those in the United States who are devotees of the concoction that bulks so large on the culinary map of Bohemia, there have never been any chop suey in China, at least not that it could be noticed, Mr. Whiffen says.

To carry the sad story still farther, he says he has tried chop suey as served in America and thinks so much of it that he is seriously considering introducing it to official circles of the Chinese capital, when he returns to his post there next month.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 11.—Fire in the Camp Grant barracks was placed under control early today after eight units of barracks in the hospital area were destroyed and several other buildings damaged.

Twenty isolated buildings were damaged by roof fires and several soldiers were slightly injured while aiding firemen in fighting the flames. Four soldiers, who fell through a burning roof, escaped with minor injuries.

Camp authorities declared the fires were undoubtedly of incendiary origin. The barracks, erected during the war, were built and equipped at a cost of more than $1,000,000, but their salvage value was said to have been much less.

Immediate investigation of the origin of the fire was begun by military and civil authorities.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Who had shot and killed the never-do-well ROBERT ABLETT, within two minutes after his arrival at The Red House, the country estate of his wealthy bachelor brother.

MARK ABLETT? Robert's body was on the floor of the locked office, Mark was missing and, in the opinion of Inspector Birch, it was clear that Mark, who had traveled forward with annoyance to the return of his brother from Australia, had shot Robert and then disappeared.

But there were mysterious circumstances. The shot was fired a few moments before ANTONY GILLINGHAM, gentleman adventurer and friend of BILL BEVERLEY, one of Mark's guests, had entered the hall where he found MATT CAYLEY, Mark's constant companion, pounding on the door and demanding admittance. The two men enter the room through a window and find the body. Antony and Bill have decided that Cayley knows more of the truth than he will disclose. They discover a secret passage from the bowling green to the house and, in Cayley's absence, try to find an opening to it in the library.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

"We shall have to take every blessed book down," Bill said, "before we can be certain that we haven't missed it."

Antony's pipe was now going satisfactorily, and he got up and walked surely to the end of the wall opposite the door.

"Well, let's have a look," he said, "and see if they are so very frightful. Hallo, here's your 'Badminton.' You often read that, you say?"

"If I read anything."

"Yes," he looked down and up he said, "I like books of travel, don't you?"

"They're pretty dull as a rule."

"Well, anyhow, some people like them very much," said Antony reproachfully. He moved on to the next row of shelves. "The Drama. The Restoration dramatists. You can have most of them. Still, as you will remark, many people seem to love them. Shaw, Wilde, Robertson—I like reading plays. Bill, there are not many people who do, but those who do are usually very keen. Let us pass on."

He went to the next shelf, and then gave a sudden whistle. "Hallo, hallo!"

"What's the matter?" said Bill rather peevishly.

"Stand back there. Keep the crowd back, Bill. We are getting amongst it. Sermons, as I live. Sermons. Was Mark's father a clergyman, or does Mark take to them naturally?"

"His father was a parson, I believe. Oh, yes, I know he was."

"Ah, then these are Father's books. 'Half-Hours with the Infants'—I must order that from the library when I get back. 'The Lost Sheep,' 'Jones on the Trinity,' 'The Narrow Way,' being Sermons by the Rev. Theodore Usher—hallo!"

"What is the matter?"

"William, I am inspired. Stand by." He took down the Reverend Theodore Usher's classic work, looked at it with a happy smile for a moment, and then gave it to Bill. "Here, hold Usher for a bit."

Bill took the book obediently. "No, give it me back. Just go out into the hall, and see if you can hear Cayley anywhere. Say 'Hallo' loudly, if you do."

Bill went out quickly, listened, and came back.

"It's all right."

"Good." He took the book out of its shelf again. "Now then, you can hold Usher. Hold him in the left hand—so. With the right or dexter hand, grasp this shelf firmly—so. Now, when I say 'Pull,' pull gradually. Got that?"

Bill nodded, his face alight with excitement.

"Good." Antony put his hand into the space left by the stout Usher, and fingered the back of the shelf. "Pull," he said.

Bill pulled.

"Now just go on pulling like that. I shall get it directly. Not hard, you know, but just keeping up the strain." His fingers went at it again busily.

And then suddenly the whole row of shelves, from top to bottom, swung gently open toward them.

"Good Lord!" said Bill, letting go of the shelf in his amazement.

Antony pushed the shelves back, extracted Usher from Bill's fingers, replaced him, and then, taking Bill by the arm, led him to the sofa and deposited him in it. Standing in front of him, he bowed gravely.

"Child's play, Watson," he said; "child's play."

"How on earth—"

"Oh, my dear Bill!" He smoked silently for a little, and then went on. "This passage has been here for years, with an opening at one end into the library, and at the other end into the shed. Then Mark discovered it, and immediately he felt that everybody else must discover it. So he made the shed end more difficult."

Bill pulled. "Now just go on pulling like that. I shall get it directly. Not hard, you know, but just keeping up the strain." His fingers went at it again busily.

Bill pulled. "Now just go on pulling like that. I shall get it directly. Not hard, you know, but just keeping up the strain." His fingers went at it again busily.

And then suddenly the whole row of shelves, from top to bottom, swung gently open toward them.

"Good Lord!" said Bill, letting go of the shelf in his amazement.

Antony pushed the shelves back, extracted Usher from Bill's fingers, replaced him, and then, taking Bill by the arm, led him to the sofa and deposited him in it. Standing in front of him, he bowed gravely.

"Child's play, Watson," he said; "child's play."

"How on earth—"

"Oh, my dear Bill!" He smoked silently for a little, and then went on. "This passage has been here for years, with an opening at one end into the library, and at the other end into the shed. Then Mark discovered it, and immediately he felt that everybody else must discover it. So he made the shed end more difficult."

place, knocked out the ashes of his pipe, and turned back to Bill. He looked at him gravely without speaking.

"What are you going to say to him?" he said at last.

"How do you mean?"

"Are you going to arrest him, or help him to escape?"

"I—I—well, of course, I—" began Bill, stammering, and then ended lamely, "Well, I don't know."

"Exactly. We've got to make up our minds, haven't we?"

Bill didn't answer.

"You know, you can't just say, 'Oh—er—hallo' to him," said Antony, breaking rather appropriately into his thoughts.

Bill looked up at him with a start.

"Nor," went on Antony, "can you say, 'This is my friend Mr. Gillingham, who is staying with you. We were just going to have a game of bowls.'"

"Yes, it's dashed difficult. I don't know what to say. I've been rather forgetting about Mark." He wandered over to the window and then turned back to his friend.

"All the same," he said, "you wanted to find the passage, and now you've found it. Aren't you going into it at all?"

Antony took his arm.

"Let's go outside again," he said.

"We can't go into it now, anyhow. It's too risky, with Cayley about. Bill, I feel like you—just a little bit frightened. But what I'm frightened of I don't quite know. Anyway, you want to go on with it, don't you?"

"Yes," said Bill firmly. "We must."

"Then we'll explore the passage this afternoon, if we get the chance. And if we don't get the chance, then we'll try it tonight."

"Do you really think we might find Mark hiding there?" asked Bill.

"It's possible," said Antony. "Either Mark or—" He pulled himself up quickly. "No," he murmured to himself, "I won't let myself think that—not yet, anyway. It's too horrible."

CHAPTER XII

IN the twenty hours or so at his disposal Inspector Birch had been busy.

The discovery of Mark was all that mattered immediately. Dragging the pond might not help toward this, but it would certainly give the impression in court tomorrow that Inspector Birch was handling the case with zeal.

He was feeling well-satisfied with himself, therefore, as he walked to the pond, where his men were waiting for him, and quite in the mood for a little pleasant talk with Mr. Gillingham and his friend, Mr. Beverley. He gave them a cheerful "Good afternoon," and added with a smile, "Coming to help us?"

"I wish you luck. But I don't think you'll find much at the pond. It's rather out of the way, isn't it, for anybody running away?"

"That's just what I told Mr. Cayley, when he called my attention to the pond. However, we shan't do any harm by looking. It's the unexpected that's the most likely in this sort of case."

"You're quite right, Inspector. Well, we mustn't keep you. Good afternoon," and Antony smiled pleasantly at him.

"Good afternoon, sir."

"Good afternoon," said Bill. Antony stood looking after the Inspector as he strode off, silent for so long that Bill shook him by the arm at last, and asked him rather crossly what he was the matter.

Antony shook his head slowly from side to side.

"I don't know; really I don't know. It's too devilish what I keep thinking. He can't be as cold-blooded as that."

"What?"

Without answering, Antony led the way back to the garden-seat on which they had been sitting. He sat there with his head in his hands.

"Oh, I hope they find something," he murmured. "Oh, I hope they do."

"In the pond?"

"Yes."

"Anything, Bill; anything."

Bill was annoyed.

"I say, Tony, this won't do. You really mustn't be so damn mysterious. What's happened to you suddenly?"

BI-PARTE COMMISSION TO PASS ON AMERICAN CLAIMS IN GERMANY

Agreement for Such Procedure Signed in Berlin Thursday.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Agreement between the United States and Germany to set up a bi-parite commission to pass on American war claims against Germany and German citizens, has apparently had the general support of Republican congressional leaders today, as a practical method of removing one of the issues left between the two countries as an aftermath of the world war.

Democratic leaders were said to be of the opinion that the commission, as provided under the agreement signed in Berlin yesterday, could not proceed without authority from Congress, and even then could only determine the fact of a claim and its amount, without passing on the merits of settlement.

The claims commission would consist of one American and one German member, with an umpire to render a deciding vote on any question on which the commissioners failed to agree. Associate Justice William R. Day of the United States Supreme Court was named by President Harding for the position of umpire, on the request of the German government that this post be given to an American. The name of the American commissioner will be announced later.

The commission will meet in Washington within two months and will take up claims dealing with:

1. Seizure of or damage to American property or interests within the former German possessions from July 31, 1914;
2. Damage to American property or interests, elsewhere located, resulting from the presumption of hostilities;
3. Debts owed Americans by the German government or Germans.

Says Harding Wants to Take Over Roads

Abilene, Texas, Aug. 11.—Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene today sent telegrams to numerous leaders throughout the country asserting that President Harding has summoned Congress to take over the railroads.

"This means national bankruptcy and weak trucking to autocratic unions far worse than when they forced passage of the Adamson Law," the message said.

"Why I Put Up With Rats for Years," writes N. Windsor, Farmer.

"Years ago I bought some rat poison which nearly killed our fine watch dog. It so scared us that we suffered a long time with rats until my neighbor told me about RAT-SNAP. That's the sure rat killer and a safe one. Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Public Drug & Book Co. and E. N. Howell Hardware Co.—Adv.

Wants to Use Cable
Sealed By Officials

New York, Aug. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, announced today he had wired President Harding for permission to use, in the emergency caused by seizure of cables by Irish irregulars, the cable landed by the Western Union at Miami from the Barbadoes and sealed by the government.

Mr. Carlton gave assurance that if permission were granted the Miami cable would be used for European business only.

From Miami, messages could be transmitted to Pernambuco, where the Western Union Telegraph Company of London has ample facilities for forwarding them to London.

Cable Messages Now
Cost Over $1 a Word

London, Aug. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Americans are paying more than a dollar a word to send messages from England to New York taking a 15,000 mile route by way of Lisbon to the Cape Verde Islands and Buenos Aires, due to the tieup of trans-Atlantic cables held by Irish irregulars. Telegraphic communication between Great Britain and the United States continues to be gravely affected.

The Irish rebels continue to hold of the seventeen cables in the trans-Atlantic service. There is little prospect of an early resumption to normal service. In the meantime, press associations and newspaper correspondents are limited to a small fraction of their usual services because of the tieup.

Stanton, Ind., Aug. 11.—With the movement of coal which has been lying on top of the shafts taken over by the state under way, officials today were endeavoring to secure steam shovel operators, in order to begin the digging of coal at the strip mines. A small supply piled near the mines, part of which was moved yesterday, was dug by union workers before the strike and will soon be exhausted. Six cars were loaded yesterday and shipped to state institutions.

The force of workmen at the mines still is insufficient to obtain quantity production and with the failure of any large number of workmen to arrive, rumors that convict labor will be used are current.

Although quiet reigned in the martial law area, disorders were reported early this morning at the W. F. Wagner mine near Terre Haute, where attempts to dynamite the shaft were frustrated by county officials. Several sticks of dynamite had been exploded near the mouth of the mine, before the arrival of the authorities. A large unexploded charge was found at the bottom of the shaft. The Wagner Mine has been operating with non-union employees.

Explosion on Ship

at Sea Killed Two

New York, Aug. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Two members of the steamship Adriatic's crew were killed, five were seriously injured and one is missing as the result of an explosion of undetermined origin in her No. 3 hold, according to a wireless message received today at the White Star Line office. The liner is at sea, approximately 300 miles off the coast of Portland, Mo. She left Liverpool for New York on August 5 with 650 passengers.

The message reported that the Adriatic was proceeding at half speed. Coal was stored in the No. 3 hold and officials of the line, in the absence of details, thought that spontaneous combustion may have caused the explosion.

The men killed were a fireman and a trimmer. Those injured included an electrician and other employees of the engine room.
